Rule 315 Statement in interventionSUMMARY

The Local Division in Düsseldorf issued a procedural order. The patent at issue relates to a method and recording medium storing coded image data. According to the headnotes of the decision, an intervener in UPC proceedings is treated as a full party by default. This means that interveners enjoy the same procedural rights as the original parties to the case. In particular, an intervener may file a request to protect confidential information in its written submissions. This protection applies under the Rules of Procedure and allows interveners to safeguard sensitive commercial or technical data. Furthermore, such requests follow the same confidentiality framework available to all parties involved in the dispute.
